Module 6 - Activity 1: Think About Mining

Time: 10 to 15 Minutes

If finances were not a concern and you could easily afford to purchase all the upgrades you need to set up your own mining operation, could you see yourself doing so? Why or why not?

Thinking about your personal set of pros and cons about mining can help to identify areas where you need more information. For example, if you have a bias against those who participate, you may simply need to learn more about their reasons for doing so.

If you are eager to participate, but fear that your lack of Linux knowledge could hold you back, learning more about that particular operating system could give you the confidence you need.
