

Activity 19: Researching Warehouse Management Systems

Time: 10 to 15 Minutes

A warehouse management system can help all areas of warehouse management, making it an important investment. Not all systems are the same. Some are full-featured, with the ability to integrate into every area of your warehouse, while others are better suited for smaller warehouses. Consider the size of your operation and your current needs, and then spend some time researching the options available to you. If you currently use a warehouse management system, look at alternatives. Does it make sense for your company to switch?
