I/We have today received a complete tutorial in "DOG COMMUNICATION."
I/We understand that this method of communication is an ongoing process, and for complete and lasting success I/We need to follow all the instructions given in the tutorial.

During the consultation should I/We feel that I/We are not able to follow the teaching there will be no charge for the consultation.

Should I/We need any further instructions or help I/We can phone (your name) at (your company name) during normal working hours on (your telephone number) for a verbal consultation or advice, for three months from the date of the consultation, free of charge. Should a message be left on the answering service, calls are happily returned to a land line telephone.

I/We understand this is a way of life and for continued success it is up to Me/Us to convince My/Our dog(s), with the knowledge provided, that without a question of doubt I/We are the leaders of the pack.

I/We understand that all advice and guidance is provided in good faith and that in the unlikely event of any incident, accident or damage caused to or by My/Our dog(s) under any circumstance either during or after the consultation, no liability will be attached to (your name) or (your company name).
