To ensure that you are feeding your dog food that is not harmful I strongly recommend that you read this article on the link below regarding toxic and dangerous foods for dogs. Research is ongoing so please keep up to date.

Foods Not To Feed Dogs

An additional note: When dogs have been fed a certain way for months or years they sometimes need a short amount of time to remember what nature intended for them and how to eat like a dog.

Most dogs eat raw food straight away without any problem when switched to this way of feeding. If your dog doesn't initially eat the food then the key to overcoming this is to let them get hungry, which usually means a day's fasting or even a little longer.

Dogs will often go for food that they've eaten before when given the option but when they are hungry they eat most things!
