

Activity 2

Estimated Time: 10 minutes

Research shows that many people feel better and can improve their mood simply by exercising. Take some time and first choose five days out of the week that you can take 30 minutes to exercise. Then write down five to 10 activities that you might want to try. These might include a walk through a local park, swimming, hiking, dancing, or running.